The Ragle Years

1972-1983

In 1971, John W. Ragle was directing Dartmouth's new MALS (Master of Arts in Liberal Studies) program when he received the appointment as the twenty-fifth headmaster of Governor Dummer Academy. No stranger to the Academy, Mr. Ragle first served on the Governor Dummer faculty from 1947 through 1950 as an English and elementary French teacher. He also coached football, hockey and baseball and was a dormitory master. In 1953, he returned for a one-year appointment as writer in residence, coach and dorm master, during which time he researched and began writing the bicentennial Governor Dummer Academy History, 1763-1963. "Through his research," observes one of his colleagues, "Jack knew more about the founding and ancestors of GDA than perhaps any other single person and brought this appreciation for her past into his present-day leadership."

In his inaugural address on October 28, 1972, Mr. Ragle said, "I have a plan, a two-part plan: first, to watch and to learn, to make whatever daily decisions fall my lot, but primarily to match strides with the school, to catch its rhythm, its direction, its momentum; then, to find out ways to preserve its strengths and its virtues, and if possible, to embellish them..." This he has done.

As most family and friends of Governor Dummer Academy now know, Mr. Ragle is retiring as Headmaster in June, 1983. His specific plans are still being formulated, but generally he anticipates teaching English either at the secondary or the college level and to doing some writing.

A search committee chaired by President Carl A. Pescosolido, Jr. '55 and including trustees Shirley S. French P'76, Edgar F. Kaiser, Jr. '61, George E. McGregor, Jr. '51, David L. Powers '52 P'79, Nathan N. Withington '58 is at work to recommend his successor to the full Board of Trustees. Faculty representatives to the committee are Wally Rowe, Chairman of the English Department, and Kathy Guy, a Spanish teacher. John Witherspoon, faculty emeritus, is serving as secretary. The committee has retained Carl Andrews Associates of New Canaan, Connecticut, to help in its efforts.

In Jack Ragle's ten years, through 1982, as Headmaster, Governor Dummer has completed the transition successfully from an all-male school to a coeducational institution with a current enrollment of 340 students, up from 290 in 1970. Applications for admission are at the highest level in her 219 year history. The operating budget has grown from $1.3 million to $3.2 million, endowment from $900,000 to $3.6 million, annual giving from $67,000 to $235,000, and a $2 million capital campaign has been successfully completed. Faculty salaries have risen from the bottom third of the spectrum for independent schools in New England to substantially above the median. The campus and facilities have seen many major improvements: the rerouting of Elm Street from the middle of the campus and construction of a footbridge over the bypass; the construction of the Peter Marshall French Student Center and of the Murphy-Frost Arena.

In the following pages, we attempt to profile the contributions of this man to the life of Governor Dummer.

When one asks others — those who have known him well over the years — for words to describe Jack, words such as “educator”, “humanitarian”, “reconciler”, “thorough”, “precise”, “down-to-earth”, “scholarly”, “dedicated”, “caring”, and “jovial” are used. Director of Admissions, Michael Moonves, sums it this way. “He is a good, decent man with a tough job. Everyone — student and faculty alike — knows he or she is going to get a fair shake. Your interests are his interests, not cut and dried.”

“Jack Ragle is not a ‘figurehead’ headmaster”, reflects Buster Navins, long-time faculty member (now retired) and friend. “He is a warm and caring individual who is always supportive of the activities of his faculty and students, alumni and parents. He is genuinely interested in people and is an easy person to talk to. Jack has no airs about him.”

Mac Murphy, another of Jack’s closest friends, describes him, in terms of his educational philosophy, as a classicist, as “one who will observe and listen and then take the best of whatever he finds.”

It certainly was a great privilege and a rewarding experience for me to have served as Chairman of the Board when Jack Ragle was Headmaster of the Academy. With a deep commitment to academic excellence, a dedication to faculty, students and administration, Jack, with humility, patience and understanding, has provided the leadership and vision to ensure the future years of Governor Dummer Academy.

Richard D. Phippen '38 P'71 '72 '77
President, Board of Trustees 1973-80

At a “Milestones” planning meeting: Jack Ragle and Trustees Peter Remis and Richard Phippen

“When he was a student at Phillips Exeter and the University of Chicago,” continues Mac, “he received vigorous training in the roots of Western civilization. In his administration at Governor Dummer he has made sure we do not cut those roots in our past. He has been for change but not just for the sake of change. Yet, he is open to suggestion, innovation, anything good.”

These characteristics, then somewhat describe Jack Ragle and his style of leadership. He is a man totally committed to his job and to Governor Dummer. He is both an educator and an administrator. As a teacher, his aim is to help each student develop to his fullest capacity; as an administrator, his course is to respect the past, examine the current facts and options, seek opinions of others in the process of deciding upon the path to follow — yet when necessary he will make the decision that must fall to him alone. As an administrator he delegates responsibility and authority and expects performance and follow-through.

When Mr. Ragle talks about “his” major contributions to the life of Governor Dummer, he talks about the parts played in them by so many others. He separates them into two categories: first, those affecting the student body, faculty and programs and, second, those involving the physical plant.

Jack has a good facility for working with the Board — he is visibly liked and respected. I always find him easy to work with. He has a good sense of humor and an excellent grasp of detail.

He exerts a steady, dependable, able leadership and commands great loyalty from the Board, faculty and students. He has attracted an outstanding group to work at the school and has kept them.

The evidence of his abilities and leadership are all those in the growth of the school, the improvements in the plant, the attention to energy problems, the summer use of the campus, the admissions policies, athletic successes and, of course, the transition to co-education which was handled with amazing skill and smoothness. GDA is a better place today because of Jack.

Phebe S. Miner P'69
Trustee

He is most pleased with “continuing the tradition of gathering and maintaining a faculty that really cares about and is deeply committed to working and living with young people.” He is proud that “Governor Dummer carries out its particular philosophy of education as well as any school anywhere.”

He is happy with the smooth transition to and integration of girls, most recently boarding girls, on the campus and with the continuing increase of women throughout the faculty. In his judgement, coeducation at Governor Dummer has from the first been a positive force in the school.

He believes the administrative and department leaders in the Academy have responded well to the charge to develop strong academic and student-life programs and he likes the manner in which these same people, through a sound organizational structure, participate in the management of the Academy. "Jack gave us the opportunity," observes Tom Mercer, former chairman of the English Department, "to develop and implement programs in our areas. He let go of the reins which helped us grow."

Jack is pleased with the rising strength of the arts, religion and counseling programs, all directed to meeting more fully the needs of students. He is happy that Latin has prospered when for a time it looked as if it would disappear. He has watched with satisfaction as computer science has taken its place in the curriculum.

In a way it was a bit strange to think of the headmaster as one whom I had known as a younger colleague and whom I had seen in the summer as he did his research for the History of Governor Dummer Academy. Would this younger fellow (actually only 5 years younger than I) be able to take charge of a school which his predecessor had brought through the unrest of the late 60's - early 70's era and which, though eminently sound, was still suffering aftereffects?

There were still students who felt that they should do their own thing under any circumstances, and there were still faculty who were restless for one reason or another. It was Jack's challenge to keep the act together, and I frankly wondered whether he might not be too much of a gentleman to do it. I need not have worried. He kept his standards as a gentleman, and within a couple of years, some rough administrative edges were smoothed, and our attention turned much more to building the future and less to patching up the past.

I certainly think of Jack as an effective headmaster. He calmed a situation which was still feeling the effects of the Vietnam years. He built a new and efficient administrative team. He conducted the only completely successful capital fund drive in my years at the Academy. He stabilized the faculty and gave it a student body with enough spirit and ideas to keep it interesting, but firmly supportive in its attitude toward the school.

My personal experience in working for and with Jack could not have been more pleasant. Jack made my last years at Governor Dummer the most enjoyable and the least wearing of my entire career.

In an era in which the average tenure of a headmaster is seven years, Jack Ragle, in my opinion, has done a remarkably fine job. Governor Dummer is fortunate to have had him in charge, and those of us who worked with him were privileged to do so.

John Witherspoon
Faculty Member 1947-80
Director of Admissions 1955-75

When I was a freshman at GDA in 1971, there were three Academy-wide issues that had the community buzzing: the presence of girls as students, Valleau Wilkie's announcement early in the fall that coats and ties for boys were no longer required for classes and a subsequent announcement that he would be leaving GDA. I'm not sure which of these issues affected me more: girls were pretty new to me anyway, my mother had outfitted me with three new jackets and a collection of ties to match and I knew Mr. Wilkie only slightly through some of my brothers who had attended the Academy. However, it became clear to me and many of my friends that the girls were great, the coats and ties a bummer anyway and that Mr. Wilkie was very highly regarded by upperclassmen, parents and alumni and that he would be very difficult to replace.

The following fall, the student body assembled in Thompson Auditorium. There were even more girls, no one wore a coat or tie except members of the faculty, Valleau Wilkie was gone and Jack Ragle stood before us for the first time. He was mild-mannered, maybe even awkward at first, totally unpretentious and otherwise a total mystery. Since that time, Jack Ragle has quietly unfolded as the Academy has leaped into one of the most productive periods in its history. In so many areas, too many to enumerate, Jack has with a steady hand developed the Academy's academic and social resources beyond what most people probably thought possible.

I know too well why people were upset when Valleau Wilkie left GDA. Jack Ragle's shoes are now the tough ones to fill.

Richard H. O'Leary '75
Alumni Trustee
Class Agent

In a recent meeting with a foundation official, he was asked what were, in his opinion, the strongest and weakest programs in the curriculum. His response was: "A few years ago I would have specified that we were weak in certain areas; now I feel that we have achieved better balance throughout the school program. One high priority I yearn to see accomplished very soon is the funding and completion of a much-needed facility, already on the drawingboard, for the visual arts program."

A break during the summer, scrubbing the Milestone.

Jack Ragle is proud that Governor Dummer has maintained and strengthened her academic posture during the past ten years, that her student body is strong and healthy, yet diversified, that the students are offered the opportunity for an education which is broad and deep both academically and socially.

In reflecting upon the physical changes to the campus, Mr. Ragle observes that "what we have been able to do through the leadership of the trustees and support of alumni, parents and friends is to bring many of the facilities 50 years, 100 years, 150 years in age back into sound condition, a substantial achievement for a school that lacks deep financial resources." He talks about how beneficial it has been to the Academy to have accelerated the process of modernizing and expanding faculty apartments, to have accomplished widespread renovation and health and safety improvements in dormitories and classrooms, construction of the French Student Center and the Murphy-Frost Arena and especially to have brought to fruition the forty-year effort to reroute Elm Street away from the center of campus.

He takes deep satisfaction in the steadily growing financial support for the Academy from alumni and friends; the continued strengthening of the Annual Fund and the healthy increase in the endowment funds.

As to the future, Mr. Ragle is sanguine. He sees as important the development of stronger programs to support professional growth in the faculty, commenting often that "a school's educational program is only as strong as its faculty. It is, therefore, equally important that we develop a constructive evaluation system to encourage and support professional growth. We must continue to seek, recruit and retain the strongest faculty possible."

As far back as 1964, while a teacher of English in the Springfield, Vermont public schools, Jack Ragle was named to the national Teacher of the Year Honor Roll (an award of the Council of Chief State School Officers in cooperation with the U.S. Office of Education and Look Magazine). Since 1972 his commitment to youth, to education, and to those with whom he works at Governor Dummer has continued unabated.

A Decade of Progress

My reflections upon a decade of working with Jack Ragle evoke a picture of thoughtful, caring, and uncontroversial leadership.

During Jack's tenure it has been my pleasure to work with him in my role as a Trustee. It is natural and to be expected that Trustees and Headmasters do not agree upon policies at all times. In fact, were there not occasional spirited disagreements, then it is likely that Trustees and Headmasters are not performing as they should.

Jack Ragle's genius, it seems to me, lies in his exceptional ability to reconcile differences of opinion, simultaneously preserving constructive relationships and providing progressive solutions to problems at hand.

The focus of my relationship with Jack has most often involved matters concerning money — the sometimes difficult constraints imposed upon our Headmaster when the Trustees set the annual operating budget. Jack Ragle has demonstrated an ability to accept such constraints and yet to achieve his academic goals with consistency.

The time of Jack's arrival as our Headmaster, the early 1970's, was one of the most turbulent social periods of the 20th century. Governor Dummer, like most educational institutions, was affected by turbulence and unrest. The times were anything but easy for educational leaders. Jack was oil upon the water. Our pond rapidly was calmed. How is it that a battle is fought yet when it is over the participants have no scars? If that is magic, then it sheds another light on this man.

How many private secondary schools are there which, during the last decade, have maintained balanced operating budgets, expanded academic programs, nearly doubled endowments, more than tripled annual giving, and had the number of applicants for enrollment more than double? The answer — very few. I believe these achievements reflect Jack's leadership as well as any. Each is important. In sum they are remarkable.

My tendency to verbosity is curbed by the limitations of space. Jack Ragle has been a fine headmaster. I am proud of our association and challenged by the need to replace so capable a man.

The Annual Report of Governor Dummer Academy

July 1, 1981 — June 30, 1982

John W. Ragle
Headmaster

Last September in The Archon I emphasized the benefits to Governor Dummer from the successful "Milestones..." capital fund-raising campaign, including the encouragement and excitement it has fostered both on and off campus. We are still reaping new benefits from this generously supported effort of more than three years. This year I want to address the question: "To what do all the improvements — strengthened faculty salaries, the expanded and renewed facilities, the increased endowment — to what ends do all these lead?" In other words, how well are we doing in educating our students?

Homer in The Iliad gives his catalogue of the Greek ships; Walt Whitman builds his poetry through lists of images; Carl Sandburg limns the image of Chicago by example piled on example in his poem "Chicago." I cite these as solid precedent for the "catalogue" to which I now proceed as partial evidence of what is taking place today at the Academy. Keep in mind that Governor Dummer statedly aspires "to encourage in its students self-discipline, confidence based on solid achievement, fulfillment through sensitivity to the rights of others, personal responsibility, and teamwork."

While you are reading this, nearly all of the 87 members of the Class of 1982 are newly embarked upon college careers spanning 49 colleges and universities. The sixteen 1982 inductees into the Cum Laude Society, for example, are attending Bates, Bowdoin, Brown, Carleton, Colby, Cornell (2), Dartmouth (2), Haverford, Lafayette, Lehigh, Northwestern, RPI, Trinity, and Washington and Lee. I confidently predict that at least five, or better than 5%, of the Class of '83 will shortly be designated as Semifinalists in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying competition.

1981-82 saw many high attainments at the Academy. A number of them came in athletics, which continue to hold an important place in the educational philosophy of the school. Once again the boys' varsity basketball team, though not undefeated (and while giving substantial playing time to all ten members), won against stern competition in both the Independent School League and the New England Preparatory School Class "C" championships. The girls' varsity volleyball team came in second in post-season championship competition and, in the process, surpassed the only two teams to defeat them in-season. Heb Evans's wrestlers, with no individual champions counting for score, by determined team effort in what is usually thought of as an individual sport captured the Graves-Kelsey Tournament championship.

Not only do students through the Community Service Program continue to serve agencies and institutions in the Newburyport area, but 1982's participants in the Senior Spring Term Projects Program contributed — and learned — in a wide range of enterprises. Two senior girls conducted and compiled an important survey of alumni opinion and simultaneously played a significant part in planning the events of Reunion Weekend. Another served as an aide in the challenging environment of a school for displaced and difficult children. There were significant projects in art, government, alcohol education, and biology, among others.

A whole series of triumphs in the arts, individual and collective, promoted pride within and well beyond the school community. Music from classical to jazz and rock, instrumental (including electronic) and vocal, over a sequence of recitals engendered high enthusiasm. A thoroughly entertaining senior-directed spring production of "Love through the Ages" followed upon the winter musical "Godspell," which had drawn universal raves. The Spring Term saw a trio of exhibits, in the Parsons Gallery, of student paintings and drawings, sculpture and photography.

An active women's discussion group made up largely of girls and of women faculty members, but welcoming male members of the community, addressed itself constructively to questions of unmet needs of females at Governor Dummer, as well as to ways in which women can contribute further in the community. The Academy continues to participate in an exchange of students with the Gymnasium am Heimgarten of Ahrensburg in West Germany and to offer through the support and generosity of a Washington D.C. alumnus and his family a rare Washington experience to a select group of students.

Far less easy to summarize than programs and group accomplishments, each of which has its implications for the quality of education taking place here is what happens in and for the lives of individual students.

Some examples: A boy already an acknowledged leader among his peers, in one year leap-frogs thirty places in academic class rank, graduating nearly at the top of his class, a member of Cum Laude, having gained admission to a major midwest university. Another, nearly dead-last in his class as a sophomore, with less native talent as a student than many others, nevertheless surges past half his class in his junior year. A boy and girl whose admissions to the Academy were borderline — delightful and attractive young people — show their mettle by doggedly achieving, not spectacularly but well, in the face of unrelenting competition. A girl whose citizenship and attitude as a freshman threatened her continuance in the school emerges by her senior year a valued contributor and a serious student. A loner and a lonely boy in his first year steps into a position of leadership by his third, rapidly climbing in the respect of his peers and of the faculty.

This handful of real and recent cases but represents what can come to pass in the Governor Dummer of today; they and a gratifying multiplicity of other individual stories confirm the strength of the educational climate in the Academy. All of the steadily growing support which the school is experiencing — the improvement of facilities and of opportunities, the commitment from a sound and versatile faculty, from Trustees, from a swelling constituency of alumni and friends — all of these assets to and attributes of the Academy find their justification in the learning and the lives of the young people who attend Governor Dummer.

Carl A. Pescosolido, Jr. '55
President
Board of Trustees

One word — PROGRESS — is the most appropriate to describe the recent and present state of Governor Dummer's Annual Fund. The words new record have become clichés. It is very pleasing, however, to continue to use these words...and it is my hope and expectation that we will continue.

The happy state of affairs of the Annual Fund is the result of interest and concern of the entire Governor Dummer community. It reflects the attitude of alumni, parents, and friends from the 1930's to the present, a period during which GDA came into its place of prominence in the private educational sector.

This is no time for us to sit back, relax, or grow content with present levels of giving. In the past year it has been my pleasure to travel to many parts of the United States and to visit with alumni in many cities. As a result of these visits, I have become convinced that there remains considerable potential to advance the depth and level of the Annual Fund still further. This we intend to do.

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, it is my pleasure to thank each person who has contributed to the Annual Fund, many for the first time, many others who have placed GDA high on their priority list for giving each year. Some of you have yet to become a part of our Annual Fund giving tradition — let me urge you to reflect upon the significance of the Governor Dummer experience. It is valuable and worthwhile in countless ways. The generous giving of our predecessors, in part, has made this experience possible. Let us continue to improve that experience by our future generosity so that those who have yet to know what Governor Dummer is, and means, will have that same opportunity. There is little that is more worthwhile.

Academic Affairs

Richard N. Leavitt
Director of Studies

From the vantage point of this office, 1981-82 was another very satisfactory year for the Academy. At midyear, in fact, we all thought the year was going too well to be true! The student body worked hard and was full of fun. They showed strength and concern for their school. The faculty, too, was both giving and caring. All programs had their successes. The number of students lost remained as minimally low as was true last year. Entrance scores and college board results have maintained the highest level achieved in the last few years. The College Guidance Office was pleased with the placement of this graduating class. And the faculty sensed the financial health of the Academy: the successful conclusion of the "Milestones" Campaign was followed by a record-setting annual fund and successful special funding efforts. Even so, all concerned continued to examine, question and formulate ways of striving for improvement rather than resting on laurels.

The list of faculty and special faculty and staff for 1981-82 included nine new names, although five were already familiar to us on opening day in September. They were an experienced group, and filled their positions well and maintained the balance and stability the faculty has developed in the past four or five years.

Changes in the 1981-82 curriculum were minor. Cultural history was woven into the ninth-grade English syllabus to reinforce the efforts made with all freshmen in the Introduction to Fine Arts requirement. A greater effort, too, was made to expose all English students to live performances of literary works studied. Trips to film and stage productions in Boston were supplemented by an MIT production of Macbeth in Thompson Auditorium. Students were also encouraged more today to have their writing published in any one of several vehicles on campus.

The four-year trend of 97% of the school enrolling in mathematics courses continued. Increased interest amongst students and instructors in the computer and its applications was in evidence again. We are looking to the arrival of our extended facility to accommodate the present heavy demand and, possibly, the offering of an advanced programming course.

In addition to the special efforts of the English Department mentioned above, other special events used to enrich the curriculum included several lectures on economics and nuclear arms issues sponsored by the History Department and the Civic Service Education Foundation. And several outside performers in music appeared on our stage. The Theatre Group of Newburyport established a close relationship with us for teaching and performing purposes.

1981-82 was an exciting and productive year, and in these days of planning fall schedules, it is satisfying to recall the positive atmosphere which wrapped up the Academy's 219th school year. The summer months have been busy in their own right, with extensive building and renovations occurring on campus. As usual, there are the hopes for new scholastic opportunities — a separate Advanced Placement Program in computer science in the near future. In all, life will seem a bit more complete with the arrival this September of the new and old young men and women.

Student Affairs

*Robert H. Colgate
Dean of Students*

I feel that 1981-82 has been a successful year for the Academy and for me as well. I understand my job better and recognize more of the problems and concerns of the students. The Class of 1982 enjoyed notable success this year: the art and music programs continued to flourish; women's issues on campus have been responsibly addressed by a group of concerned girls and faculty; student publications have been well organized and led by dedicated seniors; the Community Council has become a strong and respected voice in campus life; three seniors have organized a drug/alcohol avoidance peer-support group; and the social, athletic and drama programs continue to enjoy great success and support.

Three key issues of faculty-student concern this year have been: honesty, drugs and alcohol, and communication. The faculty began the year determined to emphasize the concept that honesty is the central thrust of the school's rules. Our punishments for violations of the academic honesty rule — plagiarism, cheating, etc. — were made stiffer so that they were brought in line with the punishments for other honesty-related offenses such as lying and stealing. One result has been that the same number of students, about ten to twelve, were disciplined for violations of the Honesty rule as were punished for violation of the Drug/Alcohol rule.

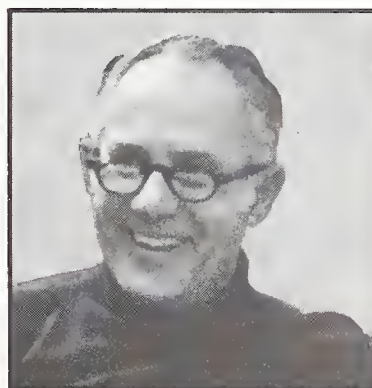

Concern over the student use of alcohol has been studied more closely during the course of the school year. Efforts have stepped up to involve parents in working together with the faculty and students to develop a common attitude and code of conduct for Governor Dummer students at weekend parties. The Governor Dummer Allies sponsored a parents' meeting led by the Freedom from Chemical Dependency Foundation on Alcohol and Drug dependency in teenagers. Since many of our boarding as well as all of our day students live within close proximity of Byfield, there is a real opportunity for all of us to work with parents toward our goals.

The third issue, communication, has come more sharply into focus as the extent of involvement of some students with alcohol has been revealed. It is not enough for the faculty to enforce the rules when they encounter violations. I feel that students need also to take responsibility, not necessarily for rule enforcement, but rather for maintenance of a climate where alcohol and drug abuse is not accepted. Pride in school and self should overcome the "live and let live" attitude that too often now prevails. The Human Relationships and Sexuality Seminars which began this spring with juniors and seniors greatly enhanced communications.

A new addition to this area is a Labor Day Weekend leadership seminar for key members of the Senior Class. This will not only give seniors a greater sense of responsibility for a successful school year, but also open lines of communication between students and faculty.

I continue to enjoy outstanding support from the faculty. Their hard work and dedication to the well-being of the Academy was a vitally important factor in the success of the school year.

College Guidance

*William H. Sperry
Director of College Guidance*

One of the few constants in the field of college placement remains the unpredictability of admission at the selective colleges, even for students whose records clearly indicate the ability to succeed. Although very little substantive statistical difference existed between the classes of 1980, 1981 and 1982 in terms of grades, scores, overall achievement in school and the like, admissions results varied enough to give me a headache when I tried to figure what factors accounted for differences. For the Class of 1980, doubtful and marginal admissions cases seemed to fall almost invariably in our favor; for 1981 practically no such cases dropped on our "side of the fence"; while the Class of 1982 again swung back favorably in terms of admissions results. Having braved this situation with some frustration for a dozen years, I have turned the direction of the College Guidance Program over to Bob Clagett, although I will continue to assist him while devoting most of my time and effort to the classroom and the athletic field.

Bowing out with the Class of 1982 was a considerable pleasure because their overall admissions results were rewarding. Most of the class was admitted to and will be attending top quality colleges and universities, nearly ten percent to Ivy League institutions and another twenty percent to the "top-of-the-line" smaller colleges. Many of the "less fortunate" actually will attend colleges of their first or second choice or in fact "turned down" offers of admission at more prestigious institutions for personal or financial reasons. Impossible as it is to satisfy every individual in a given class, the overall results for the Class of 1982 were satisfying to all of us who were closely associated with the college placement process. My congratulations to the entire group, and my best wishes to Bob in his continuing efforts to find the "right college" for as many students as possible in a class, which has essentially been my goal since I began to work in this field to take the pressure off Ben Stone.

Prospects for Bob Clagett's first year as Director of College Guidance look very good indeed, since the Class of 1983 contains some of the highest-scoring students since the late 1960's and early 1970's. No one should expect miraculous placement results for that reason alone, especially for members of the class who are not nearly so strong statistically, but usually a strong and active top echelon indicates that the class will be judged strong by college representatives and its members will fare well in the selective college admissions process. Even the high scoring students must remember, however, that other factors always influence admission at the most competitive institutions, and they must both produce strongly in their studies and must show other abilities as well if they are to guarantee accomplishment of their ultimate admissions goals.

I have greatly enjoyed my tenure in charge of the college placement program and am happy to have this opportunity to express my appreciation to all who made my work enjoyable.

Admissions Report

Michael A. Moonves
Director of Admissions

The 1981-82 year in admissions was a busy one indeed. Statistically, it was the best in the Academy's history. A twenty percent increase was seen in the number of families who visited the campus and in the number of final applications received. These increases in themselves are heartwarming and noteworthy. More important, however, is the very positive feeling that we in admissions have about the talents and strengths of the new students who will be joining us in September.

While the number of new students remains the same as in the past, there will be a significant change in our boarding population this year. As part of the overall increase in the demand for places at Governor Dummer, there has been a steady upsurge in interest in boarding girl candidates. To disregard this fact would have created an inequitable situation, because we would have been forced to turn away a good number of well qualified young women simply because of space limitations. Therefore, the decision was made to use the Farmhouse (previously a freshmen boys' dorm) as a girls' dorm. With a boarding capacity of 199 the composition for 1981-82 was 143 boys and 56 girls; for 1982-83 it will be 133 boys and 66 girls.

With the new admissions season already upon us, it is pleasing to note that the independent school industry is thriving. The latest figures in reports from The National Association of Independent Schools show that enrollment for member schools is at its highest level ever. The immediate future, then, is bright, for projections point to more and more families looking seriously into independent schools for their children. Even though this is the case, we must not sit back and continually expect a seller's market. Through the 1960's the industry was in great shape, but in the early 1970's interest in independent schools waned, and some schools were even forced to close. It is imperative, therefore, that those of us who have a stake in schools such as Governor Dummer work harder than ever to strive for excellence.

Financial and Physical Resources

Donald A. Champoux
Business Manager

In last year's report I stated "the remaining years of the 80's should prove to be exciting and challenging!" I am pleased to report that the excitement began the day after the Class of 1982 departed and will continue until the new Class of 1986 arrives on campus.

Because of the success of the "Milestones" Campaign, along with other long-range planning, the campus has been in a state of "organized confusion" all summer.

Specifically, the following improvements have been completed or are scheduled to be completed during the academic year:

1. Enclosed safety egresses for Farmhouse and Moody.
2. New bathrooms for Cottage and Moody.
3. School store moved to new building at French Student Center.
4. New quarters for Development Office in Phillips Building.
5. New faculty apartment in Ingham Dormitory.
6. Renovation of Perkins Dormitory-Phase I.
7. Final design of hockey rink locker rooms.
8. Preliminary design work on new Art Center.
9. New road surface for Middle Road.
10. New updated switchboard and telephone system.
11. Proposed renovation of Boynton House.

While all of the above will improve our facilities, nothing will have more impact upon the school than the changes being made in Perkins Dormitory. The older section of the dormitory was completely gutted and new faculty apartments, new bathrooms, lounge area and dormitory rooms were constructed under the first of two phases. Next year the rest of the dormitory will be modernized.

Our financial position continues to remain stable.

As this report is written, I look forward to seeing our student body back on campus so that some order of normalcy will return! It has been a most productive summer!

Development and Alumni Relations

Stuart D. Chase
Director of Development

During my two years at Governor Dummer Academy, one of the finest rewards has been to come to know many wonderful people. The listing of these people is extensive — alumni (young and older), parents (past and present), grandparents, trustees, faculty, staff, business executives, foundation officials. We all share a common bond for GDA, that being to help her to continue to grow and prosper through today and tomorrow as our predecessors helped her in the past.

Fund-raising is a mighty serious concern, a concern about which I lie awake at night knowing that the need is so great. I hope that as we further develop our communication to and from each other we all would want to share increasingly in the process of giving of ourselves and our resources to foster the financial growth of GDA. Even with the substantial gains in giving and participation over these past few years — for which we all must rejoice! — we have a long way to go to meet fully the needs of our students' education, our physical plant and our operating needs. How wonderful it is when we receive an unexpected gift — be it from an alumnus/a, a parent, grandparent or friend — with a note to the effect "thought you could use this money for your programs as you see fit"!

It is encouraging to observe in the responses to the alumni survey the number of graduates spanning all decades who said they have included or plan to include the Academy in their wills or estate financial plans. This thoughtfulness and caring will surely provide a solid base for the Academy in the future.

As I reflect upon this past year I think of the great times we had at the receptions, phonathons, small get-togethers, committee meetings, Homecomings, Alumni/Reunion Day, Parents' Day. The attendance at all events was high, as well as the spirit and fever. GDA is a place that nurtures life-long friendships and allegiances!

To all of you who give so willingly and unselfishly of your time and energy, I thank you and am indebted to you. I look forward to your continued friendship and support.

Statement of Income and Expenses June 30, 1982

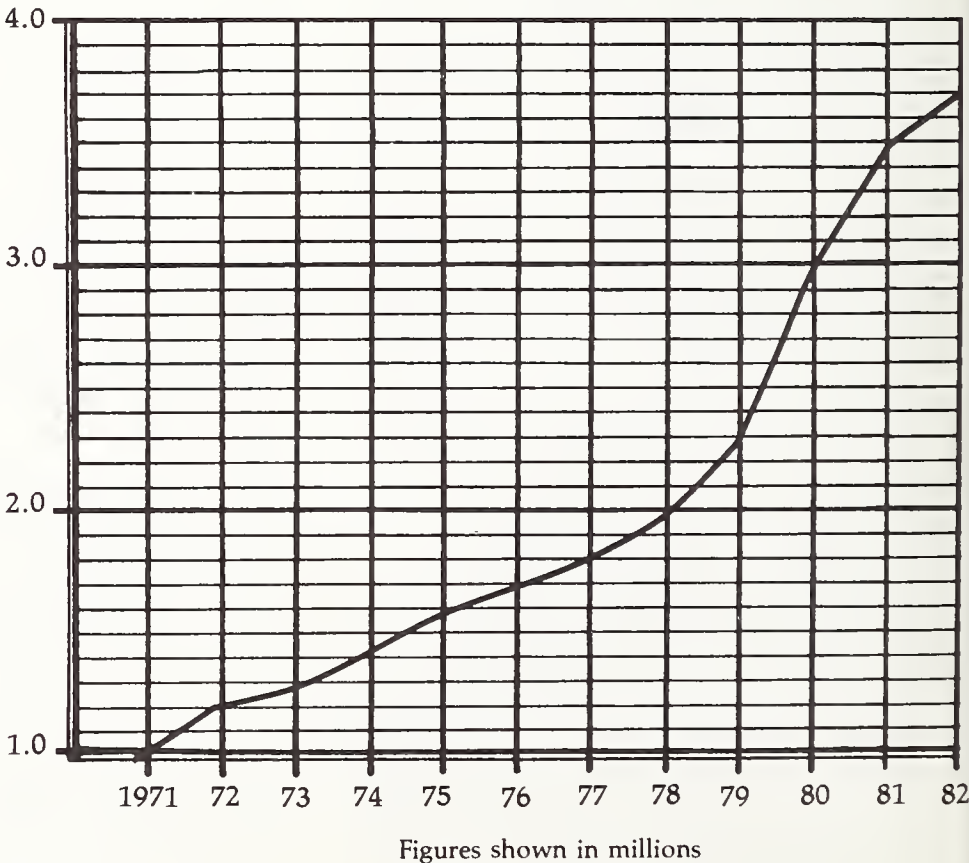

In presenting these pie charts and income graphs, it is important to note the following percentages for comparison: annual giving at other comparative independent schools averages approximately 12%; endowment per student at GDA is approximately $11,000 whereas the norm at comparative secondary schools is $27,000 per student. Governor Dummer must continue to increase annual giving support and endowment and be less dependent upon tuition, even though tuition is at the median of independent schools. On the expense side our funding by area is comparable to other schools.

Quarter-Million Dollar Mark Passed

Josiah W. Welch, Jr. '47 P'80 '83
Chairman
Trustee Development Committee

To all those who made this year's Annual Fund campaign the most successful in the Academy's 219 year history, I only wish there were adequate superlatives to properly tell the story.

Records were broken in every category — and I guess the best way to describe the performance is simply to look at all of the new records.

1. Alumni Dollars Raised — $137,480
2. Number of Alumni Donors — 1,155
3. Current Parents Dollars Raised — 56,440
4. Number of Current Parent Donors — 204
5. Past Parents Dollars Raised — 17,893
6. Number of Past Parent Donors — 163
7. Dollars Raised from Friends — 24,373
8. Dollars Raised in Matching Gifts — 12,810

Obviously, the 1981-82 campaign was a high water mark for Governor Dummer Development and on behalf of the Board of Trustees, and the Development Committee, I extend our deepest appreciation to all alumni, parents and friends who worked so hard and gave so generously to make these new records possible. By your commitment, you have helped insure the Academy's place of pre-eminence in the field of private secondary school education. You have made certain that Governor Dummer will remain a very special experience.

I should like to identify three gentlemen for special recognition for they were the work horses — and leaders in their specific areas of responsibility

Tim Greene, Class of '50 — Chairman of the Alumni Fund

Fred Adams, P'83 '84 — Chairman of the Current Parents Fund

Bill Brine, P'80 — Chairman of the Past Parents Fund

In concluding this happy report, I would not be telling the whole story, if I did not recognize the extraordinary talents of Stuart Chase, the Academy's Director of Development and his associate Ben Snyder. For without these two gentlemen, we never would have realized such success, and without them our jobs would not be nearly so enjoyable. They served as the benevolent sachems to us all, and we are indebted to them.

In the pages that follow are listed the names of alumni, parents and friends who gave to the Annual Fund. We thank you all.

Alumni Fund Reaches 42% Participation and $250,646 (Unrestricted and Restricted)

Timothy G. Greene '50
National Chairman
Alumni Fund

It is with much pleasure that I am able to report significant progress in attaining new records for the 1981-82 Governor Dummer Annual Fund. We finished the year ending June 30, 1982 with an overall total of $250,646, combined unrestricted and restricted gifts.

1981-82 proved again to show strong support among Governor Dummer alumni, parents, past parents and friends, achieving a total of $236,186 unrestricted gifts, substantially above our goal of $200,000, and a 22% increase of $42,541 over the 1980-81 fund.

Perhaps the most exciting news to report is that our overall percentage of participation reached 42.1%, exceeding our goal of 40%. This achievement is of the utmost importance when GDA competes for support from foundations and grants. Our average alumni gift broke through the $100 mark to a new high of $119.

Much of the credit for the success of the 1981-82 Annual Fund goes to a hard-working, enthusiastic group of Class Agents. A number of classes showed strong progress, both in terms of dollars contributed, as well as percentage of participation. There is no question that the fall and spring phonathons contributed a great deal to our success. I want to thank those alumni and students who helped out this year in Byfield, Boston, New York and Portland.

As a final note, I would personally like to thank Stuart Chase, Director of Development and Ben Snyder, the Associate Director, for their enthusiastic support and assistance during the year. Ben will be leaving to attend graduate school this fall. His contribution over the past two years has meant a great deal to all of us who have worked to achieve success on behalf of Governor Dummer.

Parents Fund Continues Record Setting Pace

*Frederick N. Adams P'83 '84
Parents Fund Chairman*

As you will recall, the 1980-81 Parents Fund Campaign under the leadership of Edward T. O'Dell, Jr. P'81, '84, set new standards by increasing parent support to the Annual Fund by 300% to a new high of $63,769. The 1981-82 Parents Fund Committee undertook the difficult challenge of surpassing that fine performance by setting its goal at $70,000.

It is with great pleasure and gratitude to all those who participated, both through their gifts and hard work, that I report the results of our efforts. As of June 30, 1982 parent contributions to the Annual Fund had surpassed our stated goal with $72,880 when including gifts from alumni who are parents, matching gifts, and restricted gifts.

While we missed our goal of 70% participation, we did manage to increase this very important statistic as well from 58% to an outstanding 68%. A most important point to note, is that the Parents Fund simply matured this year by adding several new ideas and concepts to the already solid base that was developed by last year's committee. I am confident that this trend will continue to assure a strong growth to the Parents Fund in the years ahead.

The success of this campaign would obviously not have been achieved without the generosity of the entire parent body, nor without the many hours spent by a very enthusiastic and hard working solicitation committee.

To all of those who gave so unselfishly of their time goes my warmest appreciation. The spirit that was shown reflects the pride and confidence that we as parents have in the Academy and its faculty for the outstanding job being done.

Past Parents and Friends Continue Outstanding Support

William H. Brine P'80
Chairman
Past Parents and Friends Fund

In my three years of association with Governor Dummer's fund-raising programs as chairman of both the current parents and past parents campaigns, I have had the great satisfaction of watching the substantial growth of the Annual Fund.

In particular, I am pleased to see the growth in giving from parents of alumni, for I firmly believe we should continue our support of the Academy. Governor Dummer gave her very best to our sons and daughters; and while we supported their education with our tuition dollars, those dollars did not fully meet their expenses. As past parents supported GDA when our children were in school, we too have demonstrated our belief in the Academy by supporting her now, even — one might respond — as our interests may turn elsewhere.

Thanks must be also given to the increasing number of gifts from friends of the Academy. Former and present faculty have shown their support, plus a growing number of local and regional businesses and vendors.

To all of you who gave so generously, we are grateful.

GDA Homecoming 1982

A full program has been planned for Homecoming at GDA on October 8 and 9. Beginning with a wine and cheese reception Friday night, Saturday will bring the annual Class Agent Meeting, a cookout, numerous athletic competitions against B-B & N, and a cocktail reception for all alumni, faculty and friends.

New this year is a recent college graduate gathering. This will give recent graduates a chance to reunite, as well as offering current students first hand information about colleges.

Kray's Clothing Store at The Mill in Newburyport will again sponsor a special unannounced Homecoming Sale to benefit GDA on Saturday, October 9. A beautiful fall day is on order, and in all, it looks to be a super program.

Faculty News and Notes

This year, we find Robert Cole entering upon his Leave of Absence for graduate study. However, the English Department will remain complete due to the return of Thomas Mechem from his leave. Mrs. Joy Sawyer-Mulligan will move into the faculty office in the French Building and assist Bob Colgate in continuing to build the support Mr. Cole gave to the Dean of Students.

Mrs. Barbara Haack, who has taught Spanish at the Academy in the past, will fill the vacancy left by Alec White, on leave to teach in Mexico. Roberta Corcoran, since 1978 associated with Governor Dummer in the athletic program and in Introductory Fine Arts, assumes direction of the studio art and art history programs; her role in Introductory Fine Arts will be filled by Mrs. Nancy Marculewicz, whose son Stefan and daughter Alexandra are in the 11th and 9th grades respectively.

The Academy is happy to welcome back Brad Clark '78 (brother, Craig Clark '75) as he joins the faculty as a teaching intern for 1982-83. A Cum Laude graduate of Hobart this past Spring, Brad plans to enter the University of Chicago Divinity School next year. He will be living on Ingham II, and will be kept busy with, among other things, helping in Religion classes and with coaching.

Ann Lowery is the new Associate Director of Development who has been working much of July and August. Ann comes to GDA after a distinguished record in student leadership at St. Lawrence University. She has already moved into her quarters in the old Development Offices in Commons.

Perkins Dormitory renovation begins

Changes Seen on Campus as Summer Construction Continues

Progress continues on many renovations and improvements to many campus buildings.

The first stage of a two-year project sees the older section of Perkins dormitory — once years ago the Academy's gymnasium — completely gutted. New faculty apartments have been designed for each floor, space has been provided for student lounges, and some of the student rooms will be new. At long last, the old student bathrooms are being entirely replaced. Next summer the newer section of Perkins will be ready for renovation.

Activity also continues in the Cottage, Moody, Ingham and Phillips. Construction is slated to begin shortly on the locker rooms at the new Murphy-Frost Arena. The newly surfaced tennis courts have also seen heavy use this summer. What looked to be a busy summer for Business Manager Don Champoux and his crew, has indeed been just that.

Headmaster Search Committee Holds Initial Meetings

The Headmaster Search Committee held its first two organization sessions on campus in July. A search coordinator from Carl Andrews Associates was hired to assist the Committee through the search process, including the initial screening of what is expected to be a large volume of candidates' credentials. The coordinator will spend several days on campus very soon after the opening of school to visit, observe, and chat with faculty, staff, and students as one part of the process of coming to know Governor Dummer.

Named to the Search Committee by Carl Pescosolido, Jr. '55 President, Board of Trustees and Chairman of the Committee, are Shirley French, Edgar F. Kaiser, Jr. '61, George E. McGregor, Jr. '51, David L. Powers '52, Nathan N. Withington '58, and John Witherspoon. Anyone with ideas or information related to the Search should contact Mr. Witherspoon, Secretary of the Committee.

To strengthen its perspective the Committee has added to its number, as representatives from the faculty, Kathy Guy and Wally Rowe, who along with John Witherspoon and Jack Ragle will be non-voting members.

Alumni Survey Update

The Archon wishes to thank all alumni who responded to the Alumni Questionnaire. The results are nearly tabulated and will be presented in the Winter issue of the Archon.

The results are already providing updated information about better ways in which the Academy can keep in touch with alumni and their needs. We look forward to the many events around the country, and here on campus which involve this fine group.

Art Center is Top Priority

The fund-raising effort and the Academy's commitment to begin final design and construction of the new Visual Arts Center by renovations to the "Stone Garage" is a top priority this Fall. To date, $100,000 is pledged towards the projected cost of $250,000.

Alumni, parents and friends who would like the Academy to finalize the plans for the art center are again invited and encouraged to respond. There is no time like the present to help meet and invest in this special need.

Class Notes

Early this summer from Virginia WILLIAM BUECHNER wrote, "Sorry to have missed the 50th Reunion — am too busy at my job and couldn't take time off." the Archon regrets Bill's absence, rejoices in this evidence of his continued vigor.

'35

Comes word that WELLS BATES has retired from C. J. Bates & Sons of Chester, CT.

'37

From Arizona RANDY BARRETT submits the following news, some good, some bad: "Retired from Bell System five years ago because of poor health; lived in North Carolina for three years and in Tucson for the past two. I have two married daughters and three grandchildren in N.C. and an unmarried son in Los Angeles."

Congratulations to newly elected Trustee ROBERT OGG at the University of California at Berkeley.

From high on a peak in what appears to be the best of all possible worlds, WILLIAM TORREY beams to earth the following message from Fire Island, NY: "Have recently retired and now thoroughly enjoy life as an ex-corporate recruiter. Most happily married to my beautiful wife Joy (our 34th year), and we are now awaiting the arrival of our first grandchild. Our two sons live nearby, and we love their frequent visits and our two lovely daughters-in-law. Often think of GDA and the most happy..." Office shears abbreviated the message at this point, but we think maybe Bill was going to say something like "...most happy times there."

To those of us who gladly remember BENJAMIN WRIGHT'S fantastic pirouettes, camels, and grand jetes as he flew round and round the ice of the old Ingham pond in the quiet dusk of winter's afternoon, after the mad melee of another hockey practice had crashed to a close, it comes as no surprise that Ben is now President of the Cambridge Rotary Club for 1982-83.

"After 35 years in the automobile business," writes LEWIS HARROWER II, "I have retired. But I now represent John G. Cartier Co., Financial Advisor of New York City, in Northwestern New York State. The rest of my time," concludes Lew on a more relaxed note, "is spent with my two granddaughters and winters in Florida."

GUY NICHOLS tells us that he continues to be very busy as a sales engineer in the military, aircraft, aerospace field. But somewhat wistfully the Captain and Catcher of the Governors' winning 1941 Baseball Team concludes, "My only athletic involvement is tennis. My youngest, Robert 13, and I play doubles whenever we can, but we don't win them all."

'44

"I retired on January 31, 1981, after 30 years with the Norton Co. and moved from Miami, FL to Vicksburg, MS, where we now live in a rural American atmosphere," says HOMER GIBBS JR. "We spend our summers in Boothbay Harbor, ME."

'46

On July 11, 1982, the Boston Globe printed a feature article recounting a cruise on the Erie Canal, a nostalgic venture into 19th century Americana. The cruise ship was the 64-foot Emta II, a converted ferry that serves as flagship for the Mid-Lakes Navigation Co. of Skaneateles, NY. Quoted frequently was the cruise captain, whom the feature writer apparently found as colorful as the canal itself. For example: "Canalling hasn't changed much in the past 150 years," said the captain, a bearded, ruddy-cheeked waterman with white hair falling from beneath a battered peak cap. "We have no timetable, no schedule. All I can promise is that you'll be canallers when you get off. This is what the trip is all about." Of interest to the readers of the Archon is the name of that bearded captain, PETER WILES, whom some of us remember as having done a good deal of quiet and nocturnal cruising aboard the GDA campus in the far-gone Forties.

'47

Pratt & Lambert, a Sales, Marketing, Advertising firm, has recently named WILLIAM V. CRISTMAN its District Sales Manager of the Southern Sales region. In what will come as no surprise to his classmates, Pratt & Lambert state that Bill "Has been extremely effective in helping our representatives generate sales throughout his area of responsibility, is a successful manager and a capable salesman." For his new job, Bill and his wife will be based in Atlanta, GA.

'50

As previously submitted HAL am RHEIN declares that he is still teaching at Malden High School, writing, learning, and enjoying.

Visiting friends on the campus in late summer, JOHN IVES happily announced that his three-year stint in West Africa with United Technologies was completed; that he has returned to his native shores, and that he is now residing in Concord, MA with his wife and two children. Following a pathway that his classmates could clearly see emerging, John is now an independent consultant.

The Portsmouth (NH) Herald of June 7, 1982 carried the glad tidings that ROBERT IAFOLLA has been named "Citizen of the Year" for Portsmouth by Pro Portsmouth, a civic and business organization. Listing his many accomplishments, the article said that Bob was instrumental in forming the Seacoast Regional Counseling Services, served as chairman of the State Mental Health Commission, was chairman of the Portsmouth Hospital Board of Trustees and spearheaded the fund-raising campaign that resulted in a new wing at the hospital, and was president of the Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce. Long known for his special involvement on the behalf of young people such as the Portsmouth High School Clipper Marching Band, he served as a school board member for many years.

From Bradford, VT, Assistant Superintendent of Schools RUFUS ANSLEY writes, "I've had a very 'checkered career,' as they used to say, in, out and around education...I have helped a few kids, made a few improvements in my corner of the pond, and most important, perhaps, have played a significant role in 'launching' some really first-class educators."

From JOHN HENRY the Archon acknowledges the following welcome note: "I am President of a $20 million sales manufacturer of vacuum heat treating furnaces (ABAR) for the aerospace, airline, and automotive companies. This business takes me all over the world, which has its good points and its bad points. My best to Buster Navins, Dave Williams, and others from the 'olden days' — mid 50's."

In Newburyport on the sad occasion of services for the late Dr. Dana W. Atchley, his grandfather, DANA ATCHLEY, III visited friends on the campus this summer, reported all was well in the West, surprisingly seemed none the worse for his long absence from New England's stern and rockbound shores.

'61

First Vice President THOMAS MERCER, JR., with his wife Jan and son Tom III, has been moved from Boston's Beacon Hill to Dallas, TX, where he will be in charge of the First National Bank of Boston's expanding Southwestern operations. "Back in three years," promised Tom, as he galloped off into the sunset.

'62

JAMES GORDON reports that he is a stockbroker with Dean, Witter, Reynolds in Fremont, CA and loving it. In a quiver of expectancy Jim confides, "Have a wife and two dogs, and our first (son?) is on the way."

The Archon has learned that TOM TOBEY is back in California working on his PhD in Counseling Psychology. He has a little over a year to go. He had been head of the middle school at Graland School in Colorado.

'64

Of his burgeoning family TOM MAIER tells us, "Have two sons, Ryan (20 months) and Sean (6 months). Hopefully they will live up to the Tom and Tim Maier reputation." And if they do, some coaches are going to be mighty happy, come the year 2000.

'65

Of what appears to be a welcome change in life style NED HELM writes, "I'm a configuration management analyst at Bath Iron Works, having left the USAF in September 1981 with my wife Leslie and made the great gamble. It paid off. We both work at BIW, own the first 'shelter institute' house in Maine, and are currently about to settle down to breeding horses and geese (yes, geese!!!). All of this is quite a change from flying F-4's for the Air Force." concludes Ned, with very evident satisfaction.

'66

"Last year I became Director of the New York Health Maintenance Plan, a Manhattan HMA," DAVID OLIKER announces. "I have just finished the feasibility study and our next step is to go operational — some time early next year. On the home front my wife and I just had our third child, a son, Joseph Edward."

'67

Long lost JOHN EASTON has been found in the Los Angeles suburb of Palos Verdes. For the past 6½ years, John has been an analyst with Standard of Indiana.

Nancy and WAYNE NOEL, and a seven-year-old daughter, live in Danville, NH. The old halfback now manages two groups from the Interconnection Circuits of Nashua, a fast-growing producer of printed circuit boards.

REID PUGH allows as how he was very sorry to miss his 15th Reunion, but promises to keep his electric guitar in tune for the 20th, come '87. "Though the furniture business has been hit hard by the current recession," Reid goes on, "we manage to stay quite busy. As well as having her registered nursing degree, my wife Betsy is a talented interior decorator and is a great help in running our two-store furniture business. Frequent postcards and epistles from champion correspondent Ben Beach have kept me in touch with news of just about everybody from good old '67."

ANDY RIMMINGTON and seven partners have started a firm that buys and rebuilds rundown locomotives and then leases them. He still lives in Coquitlam, British Columbia.

"I am currently living in Presque Isle, ME and practicing gastroenterology and internal medicine," writes HAROLD LEVINE, M.D. "Hope to see Bill Alfond soon."

ROSS RAYMOND says, "I still live in Chapel Hill, NC. I have moved on from the hospital oncology department to Medical Division, Clinical Research Dept. of Burroughs Wellcome Company, an ethical pharmaceutical company with a lot of excellent scientists around."

'71

SCOTT COLLINS is currently a Visiting Assistant Professor of Botany and Microbiology at the University of Oklahoma.

'72

From Osterville DAVID LUKE checks in: "On the Cape and am a partner in a building, painting contracting firm known as Steadfast Associates. During the sailing season I am the regional (N.E.) Manager and Skipper of Windover Sails, Inc., involved in racing promotional efforts. We import and distribute a 27' racing sloop from Finland. During the fall and winter I have a sailboat delivery service known as There and Back, Ltd. I remain unmarried and continue to enjoy the lifestyle."

"Greetings," writes STEVENSON PUGH to the Archon. "I am currently a medical-legal investigator for the Chief Medical Examiner in the State of West Virginia and am also periodically involved in medical research connected with Charleston Area Medical Center. I will be applying to med school for the fall of 1982. My most demanding activity at this time is tackling prenuptial tasks: I will marry on August 21, 1982. My betrothed is Elizabeth Gardner, also of Charleston."

From California BILL WATTS sends a very formal announcement of an important launching: "Nine months after keel laying we are proud to announce the launching of Sleep Destroyer Katherine Suzanne on July 12, 1982 at 9:55 P.M." Inside the announcement Bill reveals further items anent the event: "This ship, at launching, was fully equipped; in detail only a slight leak was found, which can be remedied by periodic caulking with the old-fashioned 'diaper.' Inside, its lusty battle horn can be heard at a great distance, which is of considerable annoyance to neighboring harbors. After dock trials of five days, the ship will be in her home port at 22102 Bianco, Laguna Hills, California 92653."

JOHN BLAKE is the Assistant Public Relations Director for the Baltimore Orioles. During the baseball off-season, he is the radio co-anchor for Georgetown University basketball.

'75

At the Graland School in Colorado, LISA JOHNSON has accepted a teaching position.

After completing two years of teaching English at the Lawrenceville School, Lawrenceville, NJ, ROBERT W. SQUIRE, JR. will be married July 31 in Evanston, IL to Vicky Hines, whom he met Freshman Week at Carleton College. Both will be attending the University of Chicago working for their PhD's, Rob in English, Vicky in Biochemistry.

'78

MARY STORY, R.N., graduated from DePaul University this year with a Bachelor of Science degree and is now practicing nursing at Northwestern Memorial Hospital in Chicago.

'79

For some undivulged reason STEVE STERMAN tells us, "it seems like my senior year at GDA all over again. I just took my GMAT's and I'm looking for a graduate school for an MBA." (That must be the reason for Steve's sensing a similarity.) "This summer," he continues, "I am working for an option-writing firm in Boston and looking forward to some more long lunches with HENRY ROSEN." Not of the recently debated three-martini calibre, the Archon modestly hopes.

'81

In a joyful note dated June 18, CHATURONT HORATANACHAI exults, "Today is the last day of school, and I'm going home (Thailand) in a few days. As you may know, I go to Northeastern University (Boston), and I'm majoring in Modern Languages; but my main interest is in the travel industry field. So, this summer I'll be working at a travel agency in Bangkok, Thailand. I certainly miss everybody at GDA and hope that I'll be able to visit all of you when I get back here in late September." A hope, by the way, in which the Archon heartily concurs.

Exercising the perennial prerogative of the fairer segment of GDA's graduates, ROBIN FASCIANO has changed her college plans and will be attending Sarah Lawrence in the fall. She spent the summer working for the Harvard University Health Services, though there's no reason to assume this wholesome employment had anything to do with her change of plans.
